A MEAN TRICK. Played With a New Hat and an Old Cheese

Probably the meanest trick that was ever played on a white man was play-ed last week in New York, and the fact that there is no vigilance commit-fact that there is no vigilance commit-tee there is the only reason the perpe-trators of the trick are alive. A busi-ness man had purchased a new stiff hat, and he went into a saloon with half a dozen of his friends to fit the hat on his head. They all took beer and passed the hat around so all could see it. One of the meanest men that ever held a county office went to the lartender and had a thin slice of Lim-burger cheese cut off, and when the party were looking at the frescoed ceiling through beer glasses, this wickparty were looking at the frescoed ceiling through beer glasses, this wicked person slipped the cheese under the sweat leather of the hat, and the man put it on and walked out. The man who owned the hat is one of your nervous people, who is always complaining of being sick, and who feels as though some dreadful disease was going to take possession of him and carry him off. He went back to his place of business, took off his hat and laid it of business, took off his hat and laid it on the table, and proceeded to answer some letters. He thought he detected a smell, and when his partner asked him if he didn't feel sick he said he be-lieved he did. The man turned pale and said he guessed he would go home. He met a man on the sidewalk who He met a man on the sidewalk who said the air was full of miasna, and in the street car the man who sat next to him moved away to the end of the car, and asked him if he had just come from Chicago. The man with the hat said he had not, stranger said they were having a great deal of small-pox there, and he guessed he would get out and walk, and he pulled the rope and jumped off. The cold perspiration broke out on the forehead of the man with the new hat, and he took it off to Mr. Smith accompanied Cochrane to if he lived very long. She got his clothes off, soaked his feet in mustard water, and he slept. The man slept and dreamed that a small pox flag was hung in front of his house, and that he was riding in a butcher's wagon to the pest house. The wife sent for a doctor, and when the man of pills ar-rived she told him all about the case. The doctor and the wife held a pos nortem examination of the hat, and found the slice of Limburger. and short were the prayers they said." They woke the patient, and to prepare his mind for the revelation that was about to be made, the doctor asked though it be little, you are yet con him if he had made his will. He said stantly accumulating and growing he had not, and he wanted a lawyer sent for at once. The doctor asked though it be little, you are yet constantly accumulating and growing richer and richer every day? Be consent for at once. The doctor asked sent for at once. The doctor asked him if he felt as though he was pre-pared to shuffle off. The man said he had always tried to lead a different life, and had tried to be done by the same as he would do it himself, but that he might have made a misdeal in some way, and he would like to have iminister sent for to take an expension of the accumulation, where no day is permitted to pass without adding somothing to the stock, will be surprising to yourself. a minister sent for to take an account of the stock. Then the doctor brought to the bedside the hat, opened up the sweat leather and showed the dying out of bed and called for his revolver, and the doctor couldn't keep up with him on the way down town. The last we saw of the odoriferous citizen he was trying to bribe the bartender to tell him which one of the pelicaus it was that put that slice of cheese in his SUGGESTIONS TO ARTISANS.

Never consider time wasted that is learning rudiments. In acquiring a knowledge of any art or handieraft the greatest difficulty is experienced at the beginning, because our work then possesses little or nothing of interest. Our first lessons in drawing, or music, or with tools, are very simple; indeed, so simple are they that we are disposed to undervalue their importance. The temptation is to skip a few pages, and begin farther on in the book. But such a course is fatal to success. To learn principles is fatal to success. To learn principles thoroughly is to succeed. Be content to learn one thing at a time, whether it be to push a plane square and true, or draw a straight line. Whatever you learn learn it absolutely, without pos-sible question. This will enable you to advance stendily, step by step, year after year, and some day you will wonder why you have been enabled to listance the geniuses who once seemed Set your heart upon what you have in hand. Valuable knowledge is acquire I only by intense devotion. You must give your entire mind to what-ever you undertake, otherwise you fail, or succeed indifferently, which is but little better than failure.

Learn, therefore, to estimate properly. There is entirely too much in the world. Do not mistake our meaning. Rest is necessary and play is well in its place, but young men who hope to do something in life must not expect to play one-third of their time. While you resolve to acquire a thor-ough knowledge of your art, be equally as anxious to know something be-yond it. A craftsman ought to be ashamed of himself who knows nothing but the use of his tools. Having store for the human race? and what is the time to acquire it, be careful to es-timate the value of knowledge. Remember of what use it will be to you in ten thousand instances as you go along in life and be as conscientions in learning radiments here as elsewhere. Learn to spell correctly, to write a good plain hand, and to pune-thate your sentences.

Do not dress beyond your means; never spend your last dollar, unless for food to keep yourself or some one else from starving. You will always feel better to keep a little money in your pocket. At the earliest possible opportunity save up a few dollars, and place the amount in a saving-bank. It will serve as a magnet to attract other money that might be foolishly spent. Just as soon as you can command the means, buy a piece of ground. Do not wait until you have saved enough to pay all down, but begin by paying one-third or one-quarter. Do not be afraid to go in debt for land, for it in-

TWO OLD PIONEERS. roughe Free Press.
At eleven o'clock yesterday forchoor a citizen about seventy years old sat under an awning on Michigan avenue, under an awning on Michigan avenue, cool, placid, and contented, and the mercury of his feelings down to about sixty. He might soon have fallen asleep, but along came another old citizen about the same age and stop-ped for a moment to fan his heated face.

"Purty warm out?" queried the first. "Well, yes; but if some of those young men who are perspiring around here to-day had lived in June, 1829, I guess they'd know what hot weather was. I tell you it was a scorcher, and

"June, '29. Now, let's see. Ain't you a little off?"

"What's the dispute?" asked a cus-"Why, sir, I've been called a liar by that person there!" replied the first.
"If I wasn't so old I'd drop him in his tracks!" "And he's called me a liar!" shout-ed the second. "I'm five years older than he is, but if he wants to try any drops on me I'll clear him of the law.

I say it was in 1822"
"It wasn't; it was in '25!"
"Look out?"

"Look out yourself!"
"Don't tick my nose again, or I'll hit you!" .
"Don't push me back or I'll do yo injury!"
And but for the younger man th two old pioneers would have tackled each other about a hot June which neither probably had correct within five years, and which doubtless was a good deal cooler than any other they ever saw. They started off in different directions to hunt updiaries and prove each other falsifiers, and in future they won't hitch along for each other on the street cars, won't drink from the same soda fountain if they know it, and seeing each other across the street, will growl out:
"There should be a law to prevent such an old liar from running at large."

with the new hat, and he took it off to wipe his forchead, when the whole the farm, and, on arriving there, re with the new hat, and he took it off to wipe his forchead, when the whole piece of cheese seemed to roll over and breathe, and the man got the full benefit of it, and he came hear fainting away. He got home and his wife met and asked him what was the matter. He said he believed mortification had set in, and she took one whilf as he took off his hat, and said she should think it had. "Where did you get into it?" said she. "Get into it," said the man, "I have not got into anything, but some deadly disease has got hold of me, and I shall not live." She told him if any disease that smelled like that had got hold of him and was going to be chrouic, she felt as though he was going to be a burden to himself if he lived very long. She got his his face, played with his whiskers, and showed by her every action that her heart was full of joy to see him Directly the colt came up to them, an the old mare was delighted when Charley placed his hand on the little fellow. When Cochrane left the place the mare followed him to the gate at which you aim.

Little by little, fortunes are accum lating; little by little, knowledge isgained; little by little, character and reputation are achieved. This is a peculiar number. The sam of its digits is 9x9. It is divisible by 9 without remainder. The remaining quotient consists of two prime factors. 11 and 19. It reads the same both ways. If 18 be set under 81 and the two added the sum is 90. If the 18 be reversed and then added to 81, the sum is 162, the sum of the digits of which is 9. The 152 is also divisible by 9, giving a quotient of 18, which is a second time divisible by 9. If the 81 be reversed and a ded to 18, the sum is 36, which is also divisible by 9, and the sum of its digits is also 9. But what of it? Add the following considerations before you press an answer: 1. Those who have cultivated the occult sciences have always held the number 9 to be possessed of great significance, 2. Those who have made a study of the numerical symbolism of the S rip-tures have regarded the num or 9 as equally significant. It is "a number of finality or judgment, of creaturely completeness" says Dr. Mahan. And ne adds, "it is a factor of all the great dates of judgment, viz of the Flood the destruction of Solom, the overthrow of Pharaoh, the Captivity, and the final destruction of Jerusalem As we have seen, it enters in a pariety of ways into the namber 1881. What

HOW SCREWS ARE MADE. The process of making a serew is very interesting. The roughlarge wire in big coils is, by drawing through a hole smaller than itself, made the size needed. Then it goes into a machine that at one moment cuts it a proper length and makes a head on it. Then it is put into sawdust and "rattled" and thus brightened. Then the head is shaved down smoothly to the prop-er size and the nick put in at the same time. After "rattling" again in sawchine, and after another rattling and thorough drying, the screws are as-sorted by hand (the fingers of those who do this move almost literally like who do this move atmost interaity mee lightning), grossed by weight and packed for shipping. That which renders it possible for machines to do all this is a little thing that looks and opens and shuts like a goose's bill, which picks up a single serew at a time, carries it where needed, holds it until grasped by something else, and returns for another. This is about the G. W. Martin most wonderful piece of automatiand it has done its distinctive work at the rate of 31 serews a minute, although this rate is only experimental as yet; 93 gross per day, however, has been the regular work of one machine.

In a late speech, tiere Judson Kil-patrick, the gallant soldier and stal-wart Irish Republican, paid the fol-lowing eloquent and thrilling tribute to Gen. Garfield: "I love to dwell upon the nomina-tions of both, Gen. Garfield is an ex-emplification of Republican institu-tions. I saw him as a boy of 9, runlions. I saw him as a boy of 9, ron-ning errands for his widowed mother. I saw him on the tow-path at 13 earn-ing money to buy books. A little later I saw him sweeping out the school house and working at the bench to pay his tuition. I saw him shoulthat men could not work in the fields, and hundreds of cattle died from the beat."

"You are off just a year," said the other, beginning to wake up. "It was in 1828. I remember it, because I ran for office that fail."

"I can't help about your running for office. I know it was in 1828, because I broke my leg that year."

"I don't care if you broke your neck," exclaimed the other, his mercury rising to eighty-six degrees at a single jump, "I guess I know what year I ran for office."

"I my it was in '28, and I've got a diary to prove it."

"And I've got two diaries to prove it was in '28' You are talking to an old ulseese, mil!"

I have been only habital the for the form of them for four years, and have tried every known remedy without small, and have tried every known remedy without small, thill bongst a bottle of the above Crus from you, thick gave me almost instant relief. It being a constitutional as well as a local remedy, I believe it to be all that is claimed for it, a lindical Cure for Catarrh. Very truly yours. Wil. AMETIVE, Deaver, Sept. 25, 1833. With Jennes, Rime & Co. GREATLY AFFLICTED.

Henry J. O. Bennors' & On. Dennor': Gentlemen. —I take pleasure in recommending harronn's Rancal-CTER POR CATARRE to all who are afficied with this disease. I was greatly afficied with it for a long time, and cared it with two bottles of the above CTER. About a year afterwards I was taken again with Catarrh quite averely, and immediately sent for another bottle, which fixed me all right, giving me relief from the first dose. I am confident that this remedy will do all that he claimed for it, and more too. Wishing you success a its introduction, I am, very truly yours.

THE MATCHLESS BURDETT ORGAN.

Kansas Division U. P. R'v. Ague Cure Lutire Train to Denver and Arriving.

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chille and Fever, Internalitient or Chili Fever, Bentitient Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Billions Fever, and all malarial disorders. In minematic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and lolme, and coldness of the spine indextremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms, which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic and other poisonous minerals, form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonica," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palastable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, and other discaders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. Aven's Ague Cura thoroughly eradicates these nexisus poisons from the system, and always curse the acceptable are patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, Aven's Ague Cura, by direct action on the liver and City by this Line than any other
